

MELON WITH THE SYRINGE ON TOP—Calvin Counterman, East Stroudsburg, rushed the Spring season a bit by planting cantaloupe seeds and raising them on his "laboratory" window. On official first day of Spring, yesterday, the plants were six inches high. Not having a watering can, Counterman uses a tool of the trade, a syringe. Wonder what a "shot" of vitamin pills would do? ## Eastburg Planning Program Advances

EAST STROUDSBURG advanced another step in its community planning program last night when it moved toward completion of its master plan for the borough.

This was done by action of the East Stroudsburg Planning Commission in the form of a motion to enter into a new contract with the State Department of Commerce covering the following studies:

Three Parties

Population and economic phases; housing and neighborhood analysis; highway traffic and parking plan; community facilities plan; land use plan; capital improvement program; zoning ordinance, and subdivision ordinance.

There will be three parties to the contract: the Department of Commerce, which administers federal funds for the project; the firm of Candeub, Cabot and Associates, planning consultants, and the borough.

Michael Cabot, planning consultant who had been hired previously to make a preliminary survey, appeared before the commission and explained what had been accomplished up to date. He displayed a series of maps of the borough essential to the planning studies and reported on several surveys covering distribution of population, type and condition of dwellings and other buildings, topography and similar data.

Cabot also reviewed the proposed urban renewal project for the Lincoln Ave. area adjoining the new flood control construction.

Covers 62 Acres

He said the tract covers 62 acres, of which 41 are residential in character but 28 acres are vacant and return only a small tax revenue to the borough.

By razing all houses in the tract, leveling land and then offering it for resale for business and industrial use, the borough could convert the flood-blighted area to desirable properties that would yield a high tax revenue, Cabot said.

The properties would be sold by the Monroe County Redevelopment Authority, sponsors of the project in cooperation with the county commissioners, East Stroudsburg Planning Commission and Borough Council.

The matter of suspending further work on new sewer construction in the affected area was considered and the commission agreed to meet April 11 with the Sewer Authority to determine what steps can be taken.

Ralph Burrows, commission chairman, presided at last night's meeting. Others attending the session included Burgess Jesse S. Flory, members of council, the Merchants Assn., the Exchange Club Planning Committee and a number of citizens.

Free of Charge

The armory is being furnished free by the Pennsylvania National Guard through Capt. Gerald E. Shanley.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Monroe County Medical Society will act as hostesses. Sponsors in addition to the Industrial Management Club are the county's science teachers and The Daily Record.

The fair will be closed to the public during the judging of exhibits Wednesday night. It will be opened Thursday at 4 p. m. at ribbon-cutting ceremonies, followed at 7:30 p. m. by the presentation of cash prizes, medals and other awards. It will close Friday at 10 p. m.

Crippled Jet Lands Safely

PERU, Ind. (AP) — A B-47 Strato-Jet, crippled by an explosion while refueling in flight, made an emergency landing safely at Bunker Hill Air Force Base Monday night.

The six-engine bomber dropped its outside right engine and 16 feet of the right wing near Evansville, Ind., but flew here—a distance of 230 miles—and circled an hour and a half to burn off extra fuel before landing.

JFK Seeks Boosts In '62 Budgets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress Monday to increase next year's Agriculture Department budget by $442,429,000.

He also asked Congress for a $41-million boost in the Interior Department budget, an $11-million increase in the budget of the U.S. Information Agency, and a reshuffling of items in the State Department budget.

His requests were part of a series of amendments he is proposing to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's budget for the 1962 fiscal year.

These amendments affect particular departments. His general budget revisions are expected to reach Congress within the next few days. It has been reported he plans to submit a balanced budget and then call for $1 billion in deficit defense spending.

Watershed Aid

The White House said the increase in the Agriculture Department budget would be used mainly to strengthen programs in research, watershed, forestry, and conservation and to bolster the loan programs of the Rural Electrification Administration and the Farmers Home Administration.

In addition, some funds would repay the Commodity Credit Corporation for costs and losses.

The USIA budget increase would be used to expand the agency's projects in Africa and Latin America.

The reshuffling of State Department items resulted in a $130,000 decrease in the department's budget.

The President asked for increases of $1,305,000 for African programs, policy planning, the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, and diplomatic and consular service emergencies.

This was more than offset by proposed decreases of $1,435,000 for contributions to the United Nations and other international bodies.

The largest item in the proposed Agriculture Department increases is a net boost of $220,929,000 for the Commodity Credit Corporation to "continue the financing of the corporation's programs on a more nearly current basis."

The REA would get an addition of $100 million "to meet increased demands for electricity in rural areas." Kennedy noted "the original budget estimates contemplated reductions in 1962 for both the electrification and telephone loan programs, but current and prospective loan demands in 1962 exceed the 1962 budget recommendations."

The Farmers Home Administration would get $72.1 million additional for farm operating loans and $11.9 million for farm ownership loans.

The agricultural conservation program would be authorized to extend its soil-building and soil and water conservation activities by $50 million to $150 million.

The Forest Service would get $19 million additional.

The spending recommendations are separate from those contained in the administration's proposed $991,126,372 General Fund budget. Action on these requests is pending now in the House.

Of the total outlay, $90,882,982 would go for improving facilities at the state's colleges and universities.

The 14 state colleges would get $34,016,759.

Pennsylvania State University would receive $16,004,747.

Proposed allocations for state-aided colleges and universities include:

University of Pennsylvania, $12,579,129; University of Pittsburgh, $12,251,581; and Temple University, $10,235,557.

The Department of Public Welfare, one of the biggest state agencies, would receive $92,028,639 under the proposed budget.

Of this, $67,410,103 would be set aside for improvement of mental health facilities. The budget lists improvement projects at 25 mental health institutions.

An allocation of $6,168,936 is recommended for construction of a new general hospital at Ashland. Part of the construction cost would be financed by federal funds under the Hill-Burton Act, he added.

Provision also is made for allocating $17,006,556 for youth development facilities in eastern, western and central Pennsylvania.

Lawrence set aside $11,939,403 for the immediate purchase of land for additional state parks and the sites of future reservoirs by the Department of Forests and Waters. The department's recommended over-all allocation is $36,492,653.

The budget also provides $2,490,963 for completion of the Independence Mall State Park in Philadelphia by 1964.

28 Persons Lost Lives

AF Officers Face Serious Charges In Tower Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Monday announced three officers have been charged with dereliction of duty in the collapse of a Texas Tower radar island off the New Jersey coast two months ago. Twenty-eight persons aboard were lost.

A Pentagon statement said the charges were filed after an initial investigation by the Air Defense Command with headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

The charges, the Defense Department said, involve the manner in which the three officers "performed their duties during the period immediately prior to the disaster" on the night of Jan. 15.

The three officers charged are: Col. William M. Banks, who was acting commander of the Boston Air Defense Sector at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N.Y.

Maj. William R. Sheppard, commander of the 4604th Support Squadron at Otis Air Force Base, Mass.

Maj. Reginald L. Stark, acting commander of the squadron "during the critical period prior to the loss of the tower."

Banks was charged with culpable negligence and with "dereliction of duty."

Sheppard was charged with "dereliction of duty."

Stark was charged with "dereliction of duty."

The announcement said that an investigating officer will be appointed by the chief of the Air Defense Command to determine which, if any, of the charges should be referred for trial by court-martial, or what other disposition should be made of the charges.

The announcement did not specify what acts or omissions by the officers are blamed in the Jan. 15 tragedy off the New Jersey coast.

None of the accused officers had any immediate comment.

Just after the Monday announcement, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., issued a statement praising the Air Force for its diligence in pursuing its inquiry. But he added the Senate preparedness subcommittee, of which he is chairman, still will make its own investigation.

Preliminary Probe

The Air Force announcement was based on preliminary investigation by the Air Defense Command, headquartered at Colorado Springs, Colo. It said an investigating officer would be named to decide what charges should be referred to court-martial or what other disposition should be made of the case.

Later the Air Force reported from Boston that Col. John O. Green, staff judge advocate of the 6th Air Division, had been named as the investigating officer. He will report to Lt. Gen. Robert M. Lee of the Air Defense Command.

The investigation is expected to take about a month, with both the investigating officer and the accused men allowed to question witnesses. The three officers also will be allowed to offer evidence in their own behalf.

Pentagon records showed that Banks was born in Raleigh, W.Va.; that Sheppard was born in Berea, Ohio, and his home address is Cambridge, Ohio; and Stark, born in Altona, N.Y., with a home address at Plattsburgh, N.Y.

Called a Texas tower because of resemblance to oil rigs, No. 4 tower was completed in October, 1957. The Air Force had planned to evacuate the structure on Feb. 1 until extensive repairs could be made.

3 Republicans Push Vote To 27-19 Margin

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Democrats, with the help of three Republicans Monday night ended weeks of stalemate and passed a bill to permit state police use of radar in prosecuting highway speeders. The vote was 27-19.

All Democrats present voted for the once-defeated bill.

The legislation, keystone of Gov. Lawrence's highway safety program, survived one Republican attempt to amend it. The amendment was defeated.

Republicans voting for the bill were Sens. Thomas A. Ehrigood, Lebanon; Z. H. Condit, Lycoming, and John T. Van Sant, Lehigh. Four senators were absent.

The legislation now goes to the Democratic-controlled House where it is expected to have an easier time passing.

The vote was helped along by three successful demonstrations of the electronic device since Friday. An earlier test failed and led to the initial defeat of the bill two weeks ago.

The radar vote took the play away from the administration's submission of a capital funds budget for public improvements in the next two years.

Gov. Lawrence told the legislature in a special message the outlay deserved prompt attention. It called for spending $241,653,991 for new construction and improvements of facilities at state-operated and state-aided institutions.

Meantime, Chairman Fred B. Rooney, D-Northampton, of the Senate Highways Committee, said proposals to revive restricted drivers' licenses were dead.

Both House and Senate adjourned until 1 p. m. Tuesday.

In another highways-related development, the House Highways Committee approved a billboard control bill. It was sent to the floor for action.

Prior to the radar vote Sens. Ehrigood and Van Sant co-sponsored a resolution proposing an inquiry into the administration of the state's present license-suspension regulations.

They contended discretionary powers assigned to the safety agency were being abused.

Congo Bid Of U. N. Called Flop

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Joseph Kasavubu Monday called the U.N. military operation in the Congo a failure and hinted it is time for the international force to leave.

"Since the United Nations came conditions have grown worse," Kasavubu said in an interview.

"It was called to bring peace; it in fact brought disorder."

"We must ask the United Nations and its arms to get out and let us solve our problems in our own way—we must say to them, 'You have been our guests, now it is time for you to leave.'"

Kasavubu spoke for 50 minutes with six visiting American newspaper editors and publishers in the living room of his mansion overlooking the Congo River. They reported his comments to correspondents.

As Kasavubu outlined his complaints U.N. troops joined with Congolese soldiers under the nominal control of the rebel government of Antoine Gizenga in a drive against witchcraft gangs in rebel-held Kivu Province, now terrorized into a state of anarchy.

Dog Owners Warned Again On Licenses For Canines

DOG owners were warned anew by William L. Hutchinson, district officer, of Hawley, that all dogs over six months old must have a license.

Hutchinson found that Monroe County is 5,000 under the dog license sales thus far in 1961. He said that bad weather may have played a large part in the delay and many owners have been granted leniency.

However, he pointed out, many complaints have been received by the dog officers of unlicensed dogs running at large, more dogs running and more dogs chasing deer than ever before.

"This shows that dog owners are not observing the law which states that dogs (or dog) must be under control of the owner or some responsible person at all times and must be secured from sunset to sun up," he declared.

Forms Distributed

Application forms for the licensing have been distributed throughout the county. But if an owner is unable to secure one a facsimile may be made on ordinary paper. This must include the name and address of owner, breed, sex, age and color of the dog submitted to the Monroe County treasurer along with $1.14 for male or $2.14 for female dogs.

The local dog officer assisted by officers from other districts will be in Monroe County from March 27 to April 7. Anyone found harboring an unlicensed dog will receive a notice to appear for this violation, Hutchinson said.

PSEA Proposes State Aid Hike

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Education Association proposed Monday that the state increase its support of public education by $110 million in the 1961-62 fiscal year.

It also proposed a $1,200 a year increase in maximum salaries for school teachers. The pair of proposals were submitted in the House. The school subsidy proposal was similar to the controversial measure in the 1959 session which was the subject of months of wrangling before it finally was discarded on the final day of the session.

House GOP Restore Johnson

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Republicans restored Albert W. Johnson, 54-year-old Smithport attorney as their floor leader Monday night by a 51-39 secret ballot. Johnson's only opponent was Rep. Lee A. Donaldson Jr., 35, Pittsburgh attorney.

Last December the late Willard F. Agnew Jr., 36-year-old Aspinwall attorney unseated Johnson. Agnew died suddenly last Tuesday.

Donaldson had been considered Agnew's heir-apparent. Johnson gave this explanation for his victory over Donaldson: "I think they (Republicans) felt that in the middle of the legislative stream, it would be better to have an experienced man take over."

He said he felt there were a lot of switches in votes during the secret ballot. Johnson said he would continue the legislative program initiated in February by Agnew. He added that he expected to expand it. Johnson had served as GOP floor leader from 1953 until his defeat last December. The vote for Agnew at that time was 53-38.

from Nationwide to young fathers

low premiums, big protection now when your family needs it most Nationwide's MODIFIED 3 TO 10 PLAN is the ideal life insurance for responsible young fathers who are "on their way up." For the first three years premiums are reduced (so you can afford them), but your family's protection is big (when you really need it). After the first three years your premium goes up slightly, but you'll hardly notice it...because expected dividends offset the rise. After ten years your new premium does not change.

and it's actually "cheaper by the thousand"

Now Nationwide rewards smart shoppers by applying the "quantity discount" idea to its life insurance policies. Buy more and you pay less. If you purchase more than $4,000 of MODIFIED 3 TO 10, your rate per $1,000 of additional coverage is automatically reduced. Savings over the life of the plan will surprise you. Ask for MODIFIED 3 TO 10...now available with the special "quantity discount"—through Nationwide. For full details see your Nationwide agent or contact office below.

Pathologist Warns Students Smoking Leads To Cancer

DON'T !!! That was the conclusion which junior and senior high school students of East Stroudsburg Jointure could reach for themselves in answering the question "To Smoke or Not to Smoke."

The talk was given in the auditorium yesterday by Dr. M. J. Leitner, pathologist at the General Hospital and president of the local branch of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Leitner said that every individual who smokes a package of cigarettes a day has one chance in ten of developing lung cancer. Unfortunately he pointed out "lung cancer is very difficult to diagnose and extremely difficult to treat."

"Now is the time not to develop the habit," he urged.

A film shown before his talk was sponsored by the Monroe County Cancer Society as part of its educational program.

"Guard Your Family" will be the theme of the Cancer Crusade which will open here on April 1, Richard Walters, crusade chairman, announced.

In discussing plans for the Society's 1961 educational and fund-raising crusade, Walters said "two of three families here and in the country at large will eventually be struck by cancer. Regular health checkups are their best protection against the disease. Checks are the means to support the scientists who are searching for a cancer cure or preventive."

Firestone Earnings Up

FIRESTONE Tire and Rubber Co. earnings for 1960 showed a slight increase despite a decline of almost $6,000,000 in sales, the company announced recently.

Net sales declined to $267,974,146 from $273,921,522.

Harvey S. Firestone Jr., chairman, said that the company would begin production of Diene synthetic rubber at Orange, Tex., this month and would soon open a new tire plant in France.

rumored plans to move the plant to the midwest.

The late Mr. Sanborn fought for years to keep Worthington in the area, the former state senator pointed out.

On the brighter side, Crowe noted that inquiries have been received by his group, concerning six possible industrial sites in the area.

Endorse Bill

In other action, the Chamber endorsed House Bill 550, restricting the placement of billboards on Federal highways. Atty. Joseph McCluskey explained the bill to the more than 130 persons in attendance.

A minute of silent prayer was held in memory of the late Mr. Sanborn, one of the Chamber's leading officials.

Leroy Mikes, president, welcomed the guests and Jesse Flory gave the invocation.

Mikes introduced Edward Driebe, who along with his wife, Mary, were hosts to the dinner-meeting.

Driebe told of the operation of Pocono Produce. Following his remarks, tours were conducted throughout the plant for Chamber members.

Natural Causes Ruled In Death

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Dr. Joan Davidson, 31, graduate student at the University of Minnesota Medical School, died from "natural causes" and not carbon monoxide poisoning, it was reported Monday.

The Ramsey County coroner's office said further tests would be made to try to determine exact cause of her death. Dr. Davidson, formerly of Danville, Pa., where her parents live, was found dead in her car early Sunday.

Police said the car had jumped a curb and smashed into a wire fence. The car became mired when Dr. Davidson tried to free it, and investigators in the coroner's office said earlier that fumes from the exhaust pipe clogged by mud may have caused her death.

The car's ignition switch was on, the left window rolled down and the motor was running, police said. The body was lying on the front seat with a foot depressing the accelerator.

Two Presidents of the United States — Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson — were awarded Nobel Peace Prizes.

Poulson Testifies In Own Defense

POTTSVILLE (AP)—Robert H. Poulson, testifying in his own defense, Monday denied he ever participated in any safe burglary in the home of John B. Rich, millionaire coal operator, on Aug. 7, 1959.

Ethics In Government

After exploring the complexities of ethics in government, a Senate subcommittee recommends a complete overhaul of conflict of interest laws described as "disjointed, overlapping and ambiguous."

The committee's special preoccupation was the requirement that nominees for high federal office, particularly in the Pentagon, should divest themselves of financial interests in companies doing business with the government.

According to the report this provision makes it difficult to recruit the best men for the jobs.

Perhaps it does. For some nominees government service has meant economic sacrifice. Whether such sacrifices were as needless or as detrimental to government as the committee thinks is certainly a matter for congressional consideration.

Yet under the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, there were top executives willing to conform to legislative safeguards.

Any law revision, however, should produce no undue relaxation of standards. Even the subcommittee concedes that laws are needed to deal with the "rare person" who would abuse his official position.

And we know enough about mink and vicuna coats, deep freezes and congressional intervention with regulatory agencies to realize that unethical behavior has been far from a government rarity.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Free Berlin Lures Red Youth

It is now 15 years since the East German Communists started their intensive fishing effort to lure young people into the Marxist net.

Just as Adolph Hitler had great plans for German youth, so the Communists are hoping to distill from it an elite to perpetuate the party's purposes for generations to come.

How well has the "Free German Youth Movement" progressed?

Despite all that a state-run propaganda and organization machine could do, the record shows that half of the people escaping from the East to the West are under 25 years old.

Recently the SED press, organs of the Socialist Unity Party of the East Zone, accused young people of "decadent" Western leanings, of preferring Western music and of dressing like their Western counterparts. It also chided them for showing a marked lack of respect for Communist leaders.

With remarkable candor, Herr Neumann, the Communist youth cadre chief, declared:

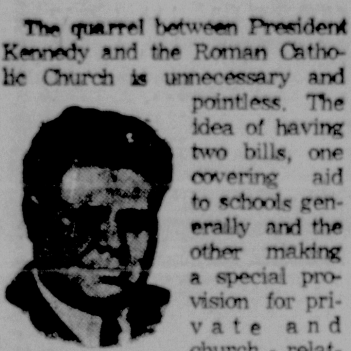

"Much can be forgiven or made good if here and there shortcomings crop up, but it is unforgivable if the masses of youth are not on our side."

Undoubtedly one of the chief obstacles to the success of the Communist indoctrination is the antidote of freedom flowing into the East Zone from Berlin. No wonder its neutralization commands top priority in the Kremlin's schemes.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Unnecessary Issue

The quarrel between President Kennedy and the Roman Catholic Church is unnecessary and pointless. The idea of having two bills, one covering aid to schools generally and the other making a special provision for private and church-related schools, is a political gimmick which is designed to avoid an unfavorable Supreme Court decision on the major bill should it be passed by Congress.

The tendency of the Supreme Court to legislate has an ulterior effect upon both the Executive and Legislative branches of the government.

The argument over separation of Church and State is unrelated to the Constitution which has not one word to say on the subject.

The assumption that financial aid to parochial schools "establishes" a church is obviously fallacious, for no established church governs our armed forces which has the largest and most effective chaplain service; also every meeting of Congress is opened by a clergyman who, if he desires, wears the uniform of his church on the occasion. The Constitution is opposed to an established church; that is a government-owned church, like the Anglican Church, whose titular head is the Queen of England. Opposition to "establishment" did not mean and could not mean opposition to religion per se or to the right of parents to send their children to denominational rather than to secular schools.

True, taxes are used for public schools, the parents who send their children to denominational or other private schools paying double because they choose to educate their children in a private or parochial school.

There are many kinds of denominational connected schools in this country—Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Lutheran, Jewish, Hasidic, Nation of Islam, etc.

The largest are the Roman Catholic schools which in a city like New York include about one third of the school population, according to Charles Silver, president of the Board of Education.

In the discussion of Federal aid to education, the term "aid" is false. The money comes out of taxes which all citizens pay. In fact, the citizens pay more than they receive back because there is a diversion of funds between collection and expenditure that almost amounts to a brokerage fee by the Federal government.

If enough tax money were left for local communities, they would have sufficient funds to take care of their own schools and would use those funds in accordance with local public opinion.

Furthermore, three formulae are possible for the distribution of aid. One is that aid go to state governments to be expended according to their judgment without Federal supervision; another is the expansion of Federal supervision until all forms of local control over education disappear and a vast Federal system of education takes its place.

A third possibility is the current mixed system in which local direction of schools is ostensible, but many controls are set up, such as State Boards of Regents, State universities, College Entrance Boards, supervision through state aid to Federal aid to schools—until their individuality disappears and every school, up to college grades, becomes identical.

There are proponents and defenders of each of these systems which grow in authority from year to year, so that local control of education weakens.

The church-related school is old in American history. In fact, at the beginning all schools were church related and the teachers were clergymen. Until this century, this was a religious country, the atheist being regarded as an enemy of society.

Although the public schools were secular, daily assemblies were opened with the reading of the Bible, the singing of a hymn and such holidays as Christmas and Thanksgiving were celebrated by children of all faiths and nobody suffered the consequences.

The injection of materialistic ideas in education, the rejection of all forms of religion as antagonistic to sectarian differences, the tendency of the Court to establish a separation of Church from State as appearing in the Constitution which it does not, and the translation of that term to mean the separation of Americans from religion is part of the confusion of ideas which came into our lives during the past 40 years.

Part of this change is due to the philosophic failure to reconcile the new sciences to old religious concepts. But this can be said of it, that simultaneously with this change of thought and habit has come increased juvenile criminality and increased divorce. In a word, man still needs God.

The Pennsylvania Story

State Lags

By Mason Denison
Erieburg — Once again Pennsylvania — through its legislative gentry — is calmly closing the barn door after the horse has been stolen.

This somewhat ridiculous situation is indeed not a foreign one insofar as the Keystone State is concerned, but to Pennsylvanians whose lawmakers theoretically at least are their elected representatives, it should be somewhat annoying.

For example, on the Senate calendar yesterday for consideration by the upper chamber was House Resolution No. 1.

As the number clearly specifies, this was the first resolution introduced in the House of Representatives in this 1961 session.

The resolution made its debut in the lower chamber Jan. 5 and was reported out of House committee for floor action by the House on Feb. 1. On that date the bill was also passed by the House.

The House of Representatives, it should be noted, moved with incredible speed.

The story in the Senate is an entirely different one. Having passed the House Feb. 1, it went immediately to the Senate and on that day was referred to the Senate Rules Committee. The resolution appeared on the Senate calendar yesterday — March 20 — for the first time. What is House Resolution No. 1 and why the necessity for speed?

This is the resolution urging Congress to support and enact a temporary unemployment compensation extension program.

The federal unemployment compensation extension legislation generally is regarded as highly important to Pennsylvania as one of the economically hard-hit states — where thousands of jobless Keystone State workers have exhausted their unemployment compensation payments.

The "temporary unemployment compensation extension" legislation in Congress, referred to in the Pennsylvania resolution, would extend jobless payment benefits to those who already have exhausted their schedule of payments.

Now — federal legislation that would authorize this extension of UC payments had already cleared the House of Representatives in Washington.

Last week the legislation cleared the Senate but must go back to the House for concurrence in minor Senate amendments.

Indications are that the legislation will be finally ironed out and passed on to the President late this week or next week.

Meanwhile — the Pennsylvania Senate had on its agenda yesterday for consideration, the resolution urging Congress to do something that by now already has been virtually completed!

Fact or fancy? The record speaks for itself!

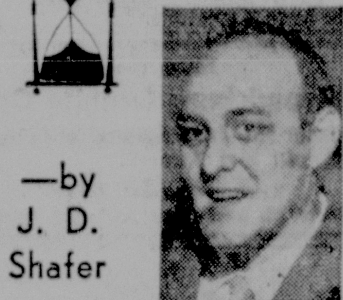

Or, there is the question of legalizing use of radar for apprehension of speeders on Pennsylvania's highways, an issue that has been one of the best kick-around issues for the Senate for years. That too was on the Senate calendar for this week after having been defeated in the upper chamber once already (it cleared the House) — but how well is Pennsylvania "leading" other states on this score?

Forty-seven states and the District of Columbia already have legalized radar — but Pennsylvania today is one of only three that does not!

And then there is the question of enacting restrictive billboard legislation covering Pennsylvania's 1500 miles of now abounding Interstate highway system. It must be enacted and on the books by the June 30 deadline for the Keystone State to receive from the federal government some $6,000,000 in "incentive" funds. (The legislation goes nowhere in the 1961 session.)

The question might well be asked: when is Pennsylvania destined to start "leading" once again rather than expanding energies in closing barn doors after the horses have been stolen?

The Allen-Scott Report

Boycott Revoked

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — A remarkable story of long-range summit-level diplomacy is behind President Kennedy's curious on-again-off-again shifts on revoking the ban against the importation of Russian crabmeat.

Of major importance to one state, Alaska, this seafood product has suddenly become the focal point of a potentially far-reaching test of U.S.-Soviet relations.

For in Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson's four-hour meeting with Premier Khrushchev in Siberia, the boisterous Kremlin ruler consumed the first hour fulminating against the crabmeat boycott — which was imposed 10 years ago on the ground it is produced by slave labor.

Khrushchev lengthily and frantically denied that, and inferred that removal of the embargo could lead to improvement in the ties between the two countries.

Following are the details of this extraordinary backstage episode:

To Thompson's astonishment, Khrushchev opened their discussion by vehemently shaking his finger and shouting, "If you want better relations, as your President claims, why don't you stop lying about us!"

Quietly, Thompson, who speaks fluent Russian, pressed Khrushchev to be specific. The Soviet chief responded with a tirade against the crabmeat embargo.

"As long as you keep lying about our using slave labor to produce crabmeat," he bellowed, "we will lie about you in the United Nations. The charge that we use slave labor is an outrage against the Russian people. If you continue this lie, we will continue to lie about you. We can do that just as well as you."

To support his heated denial, Khrushchev showed the veteran career diplomat a voluminous report on the number of workers in the crabmeat industry, their pay scales, and the location of their communities and canneries.

"If this is slave labor," said Khrushchev, "then you have plenty of it in your country."

In Thompson's cabined account of their talk, he recommended revoking the crabmeat embargo for the express purpose of probing Khrushchev's intentions. The Ambassador expressed the view the price would be "relatively cheap" to gain this highly important information.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk heartily approved this strategy. He urged the President to lift the decade-old crabmeat ban.

The President got the same advice from other cabinet members and UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson. All agreed the move was worth making to ascertain whether the Kremlin really desires better relations, particularly in the United Nations.

With this unanimous counsel, the President, out of the clear blue, announced the lifting of the crabmeat restrictions.

Fishing is a principal industry there, and crabmeat is a major part of it. The 49th State lot out a loud and furious roar of protest.

Leading this arvil chorus were Senators Ernest Gruening and E.L. Bartlett, both Democrats and supporters of the President at the Los Angeles convention.

Gruening phoned the President, who left a conference to talk to him.

"This is political dynamite in Alaska," warned Gruening. "It is also international dynamite," replied the President. "There is a great deal at stake in this matter. The interests of the entire country are involved."

"The interests of the country won't be helped by increasing unemployment in Alaska," contended Gruening. "And that is exactly what will happen by allowing cheap Russian crabmeat to take away our market. You are fighting the recession, and we are considering a number of measures you have submitted to Congress for that purpose. Lifting this embargo is in direct conflict with that."

This plea impressed the President. After again discussing the matter with Secretary Rusk, Ambassador Stevenson and other advisers, the President reimposed the ban "pending further review."

White House insiders say that means waiting to see what the Soviet does in taking a more conciliatory attitude, particularly in the United Nations. The next move is up to the Kremlin.

Meanwhile — no crabmeat from Russia.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D., Ga.) is credited by White House assistants with persuading President Kennedy to name the cabinet committee to study the textile problem. Commerce Secretary Hodges, former North Carolina textile executive, is head of this potent group that will submit recommendations on what should be done about Japan's voluntary textile quota agreement that expires this year.

Talmadge carried a lot of weight with the President by submitting a report that "since 1956 more than 700 American textile mills have closed and more than 400,000 textile jobs have been eliminated chiefly as the direct result of the loss of markets at home and abroad to foreign manufacturers."

Dry Skin

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

What can you do for dry skin, that coarse, scaly complexion without redness or inflammation?

Most of your skin is coated with an invisible shell as tough as a bull's horn. Normally, the outer layer breaks up into millions of tiny dandruff flakes before this shell can thicken into coarse, dry skin.

But you may have inherited an abnormal outer shell — one which hardens your soft complexion. Beneath this shell, oil and sweat glands slow down and clog up.

All this shows up as gray, scaly skin. Occasionally it thickens into alligator-like leather.

Oil's Wash Away Blistering winds lash across this dry skin until it reddens into raw flesh. Both steaming hot water and detergents (that float away grease and grime) wash away natural skin oils.

Soapy lather rinses more natural skin oil down the drain. Oil-dissolving soap-removers also dry out your skin.

Avoid everything that robs your skin of natural oil. Help your skin stay soft and smooth by adding additional oil. Put on rubber gloves before plunging your hands into soapy dish water.

Enjoy "the warm luxury" of a "9-minute bath" at bedtime. "Soak" up with soap-free substitutes like Acidolite or Lovilia.

Your doctor may suggest special oils to put in the bath water. A fine film clings to your skin afterwards.

Lubricate Dry Areas

Your pores still open from the warm bath, lubricate these dry areas with soothing oils. You'll have to experiment to find which is best for you — Petroleum (a thin edition of vasoline), lanolin and all sorts of cold creams.

Glycerine in rose water has been a sweet-smelling favorite for years. Your open pores should absorb the needed oil like a brand-new blotter, and with your skin softly lubricated for the next 24 hours, you've blotted out that dry skin problem.

We Can't All Be Leaders

Because no school financed by taxpayers' money can afford to flunk out too many kids, the educational system has designed a method of grading so that most children get some kind of passing grade. The height in strained encouragement occurred when a teacher added this note to an otherwise poor report: "He contributes nicely to group singing by helpful listening."

From Howard Brown of Mid-dletown, N.Y.: "No man is completely worthless . . . he can always serve as a bad example."

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

That did it! But as long as this is the last birthday I'm going to celebrate, ever, I'm glad I ended with a blaze of glory: A three-day celebration that has me right in condition to celebrate both my 75th and my 100th right here and now.

Orchids, roses, champagne, and the most beautiful birthday cakes in the world. Most popular birthday cake, of course, was the tremendous one Muriel Hughes brought to the office where there was enough for back shop, front shop, editorial and casual visitors.

Most unusual was the one with the story of my life: There I was swinging a golf club and yelling for with the trajectory of the ball in black dots so you could trace it where it was hiding in the rough; I was bowling, I was in a gondola in Venice, I was at my desk, answering the phone, I was swishing a grass skirt in the hula, and in the midst of it all there I stood saying "I feel better now!"

It was a stupendous cake made, they tell me, by a baker who has made cakes for the Kennedys and for Princess Grace—and I do feel better now. I'd been dreading the whole thing, but suddenly I realized I wouldn't change places with anybody in the wide, wide world.

There are many things I would change about myself but to have children grown to responsible adults who are fun to know as individuals; to have work you enjoy with people you like; to be surrounded with friends who are interesting, stimulating, different in many ways; to have health and energy and not to creak—yet, to seem young, still, to your family: Yea, verily, my lines are cast in pleasant places.

The Wyckoff Shopper

STROUDSBURG, PA.

"Get Kate," goes the hue and cry. "She'd look lovely in a sack."

My guess is that you already know what I'm talking about and need no further explanation . . . but if you're new in town, I'm simply saying that whenever there's a fashion show to be staged in this community, it's a sure bet that Jack Mullin's Kate is going to wear all the difficult things that somehow don't look quite well on other people. Oh, she wears her share of the things everyone else can wear too, and makes them look extra special. But you can be sure that if a dress needs a certain air of sophistication, it will be Kate who wears it.

Natually, we would, and Kate is good sport enough to do it. That's another thing that makes her a fine model. She comes to a fitting and says, "What would the store like me to show?" . . . and she'll wear anything you put on her with a look of pride and pleasure whether or not she personally would have chosen it. There's nothing of the prima donna about a good model . . . with her, business is business, and since modeling is Kate's business, she shows to the best possible advantage anything one wishes to promote . . . providing it's her size.

If all goes well, Kate will be with me at noon today when we present a Millinery and Accessories show before the officers' wives club at the Tobyhanna Depot. Not that those officers' wives aren't lovely to look at and smart, because they are! But Kate is wonderful whenever you say to her, "Wonder if you'd wander through the store and select things you can use in varied ways." Give her that signal, and she's off like a race horse at the Kentucky derby . . . and next thing you know, she's on the telephone saying, "Remember the woven tablecloth we showed at Mountain Manor, along with different colored dishes? Well, I bought it—and then it occurred to me it would make a beautiful dress and hat. So, that's what I did with it. Would you like me to model that and show what can be done for just a few dollars?"

Natually, we would, and Kate is good sport enough to do it. That's another thing that makes her a fine model. She comes to a fitting and says, "What would the store like me to show?" . . . and she'll wear anything you put on her with a look of pride and pleasure whether or not she personally would have chosen it. There's nothing of the prima donna about a good model . . . with her, business is business, and since modeling is Kate's business, she shows to the best possible advantage anything one wishes to promote . . . providing it's her size.

I'm not sure exactly why I started this column today, except that over and over again, Kate proves, I think, that one can be as smart as a page out of Vogue, without wrecking the budget to do it. Part of her secret is good carriage . . . another part is awareness of one's own needs and what a costume can and will do for one . . . and a third, is the air of self-assuredness that any professional model has, whether she be on Park Avenue or Main Street, Stroudsburg. All of these traits help anyone in the fashion parade . . . and so much the better if the figure and face help in presenting the illustration.

In any case, Kate and her glamorous "sisters" of the ads, prove one thing over and over again: being chic is not so much a matter of money as one's wisdom in spending it. Once you are convinced of that, it will be the easiest thing in the world for you to buy a 14.98 dress from our Wyckoff racks, a 5.00 hat from Maudie's department, a pair of 1.98 gloves, and a neat pair of shoes (10% off during anniversary) and march in the Easter parade looking like a million.

Speaking of haute couture, now's the time to begin planning your attendance at the Israeli fashion show Wednesday evening, June 21st, at Tamiment. Those gowns from Israel are like something out of a dream, and so is our Wyckoff casual wear. Tickets are now on sale with members of the sponsoring Hadassah, of which Mrs. Morris Jacobson is president.

History May Repeat In NCAA

Top-Ranked Bucks May Battle Cincy In Finale

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — History could repeat itself in the NCAA basketball championships here this weekend.

In 1957, the last time the championships were held in spacious, imposing Municipal Auditorium, North Carolina — then rated the No. 1 team in basketball, played second-ranked Kansas in the final.

By the margin of a single point in the third five minute overtime, the Tar Heels upheld the validity of the pollsters, 54-53.

Through the luck of the draw, No. 1 could be matched against No. 2 next Saturday when the NCAA tournament, which began a week ago with 24 teams involved, reaches its climax.

Ohio State, top-ranked and the defending champion, must get past St. Joseph's (Pa.) in Friday's semifinals. Cincinnati, second-ranked, has Utah's Skyline Conference champions as its semifinal hurdle.

Met In 1922

The way the Cincinnati Bearcats have been looking forward to a crack at Ohio State, it might take a triple overtime to pry them apart. Although they're practically neighbors, the schools haven't met in basketball since 1922.

The potential analogy goes a step further, too, since North Carolina in 1957 is the last team to have made it through a full major season of college basketball without a loss. Ohio State, with a carry-over 31-game winning streak, has a 26-0 record for the 1960-61 season and needs just these two giant steps to match the Tar Heels.

Next Year's Team

The San Francisco Dons of 1956 are the only other team in tournament history to sweep unbeaten to the national championship.

Coach Ed Jucker of Cincinnati already is tinkering with what sounds like a bit of neighborly needling.

"By next year," he said the other day, "I think our Paul Hogue will be the best center in college basketball."

He was aware as he said it that Ohio State's Jerry Lucas, the player of the year, two-time All-American, and Olympic star, also is a center and — like Hogue — a junior who will be back next year.

A Year For Have-Nots ...

Scholastic Basketball

Tourney Has Surprises

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — This must be the year of the have-nots.

After running strictly according to form the first two weeks, the 1961 PIAA basketball playoffs saw a series of upsets last week that propelled a group of rank outsiders into the final round this week.

Mt. Lebanon never had won a WPIAL-A title and, yet, this week it represents that district in the western final against Hickory Twp. of Dist. 10.

In the east, District 3 champ Reading appeared the weakest of the eastern district winners. Nevertheless, it knocked off favored Bethlehem in a semifinal round and goes against Nanticoke of District 2 in the eastern final.

Nanticoke figured to be a contender but the form sheets showed it dropping out in its semifinal game with the District 1 champion, Radnor. But the cockers beat Radnor by 19 points.

Nanticoke is the only one of the four Class A survivors ever to have played in a state championship game. They were state champions in 1923 and 1926, their last appearance in the big game. In 1924 they were runnersup.

None of the four Class B survivors ever has won, or even played in, a state championship. They are St. Clair of Dist. 11; Luzerne, a former Class A Dist. 2 champion; Fort Cherry of the WPIAL and its opponent in Tuesday night's western "B" final, Cochran of District 10.

The Class B finals are scheduled for Tuesday night and the Class A regional windups Wednesday night.

Thursday will be a day of rest for the six survivors.

On Friday, the Class B regional championships meet at the Pitt Field House for the state title.

Saturday night, the Class A championship will be staged in the Farm Show Arena here, while the Class C finalists meet at either Albright College or Bucknell University.

Lopez Rates Sox Higher Than '59 Pennant Kings

CHICAGO WHITE SOX
By Jack Hand
(AP Sports Writer)

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Al Lopez optimistically rates his 1961 Chicago White Sox higher than the team that won the pennant in 1959. He believes the addition of Cal McLish and Juan Pizarro to his pitching staff has closed the gap that led to last year's disappointing third-place finish.

"We led the league in hitting, fielding, double plays and stolen bases last year," said the affable Senor. "Still, we finished third. It must have been our pitching that failed. So, we went out and got two starters in McLish and Pizarro."

"I think we have a real good chance to win it this year. Of course, we'll have to contend with New York again. I do think the Yankees were hit hard when they had to give up men like Bobby Shantz, Eli Grba, Duke Maas, Bob Cerv and Dale Long to stock the new clubs and also lost Gil McDougald who retired."

Lost Big Man

"Baltimore should be tough although they lost a big man in Gene Woodling. Cleveland ought to be better if Gary Bell comes back and Johnny Antonelli should help them."

Lopez said "we have no problems; why be pessimistic in the spring of the year?"

Joe Martin, a rookie who hit .285 at San Diego, will be the only new face in the starting Sox lineup. Lopez already has awarded the third base job to him.

"Martin has a good arm and speed," said the manager. "We need another left-handed hitter. I think he will do it."

Although the club has plenty of age with men like Early Wynn, 41, Gerry Staley, 40, Minnie Minoso, 37, Sherm Lollar, 36, Roy Sievers, 34, and Al Smith and Nellie Fox, 33, Lopez doesn't think it will hurt him.

Lopez has eight potential starting pitchers. He can pick from left-handers Frank Baumann (13-6, the league's earned run leader), Billy Pierce (14-7), Herb Score (5-10) and Pizarro (6-7 at Milwaukee) and right-handers Wynn (13-12), McLish (4-14 at Cincinnati) Russ Kemmerer (6-5 at Washington and Chicago) and Bob Shaw (13-13), who has been a holdout.

Relief Help

Lopez hopes to get relief help from 23-year-old Gary Peters, a lefty with a 12-9 record at San Diego.

The infield is set with Sievers (256) on first, Fox (.289) at second, Aparicio (.277) at short and Martin at third.

The outfield will have Minoso (.311) in left, Landis (.253) in center and Al Smith (.315) in right. Spares will be Jim Rivera (.294) and possibly Floyd Robinson (.318 at San Diego) and Stan Johnson (.333 at San Diego).

Catcher Lollar (.252) may be spelled by Bob Rosell (.258 at Sacramento), a drafted player. Joe Ginsberg (.257) also is available.

If the old men hold up, the Sox could be very tough customers. Next—Los Angeles.

Cooper In Defense Of Title Tonight

LONDON (AP)—Henry Cooper, seeking the summer shot at world heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson, defends his British and British Empire heavyweight titles against Welshman Joe Erskine in a 15-round fight Tuesday night.

Winner of seven straight bouts in the last 2½ years, the 26-year-old Cockney Monday was made a 2-1 favorite over his 27-year-old rival.

Patterson, after knocking out Ingemar Johansson in Miami Beach last Monday night, hailed Cooper as a "very worthy challenger," and deserving of a chance at the title.

"I know this is a make-or-break fight as far as any crack at Patterson goes," said the blond English champion. "My ambition always has been to get a world title fight."

Cooper's winning streak includes a 12th round knockout of Erskine on Nov. 17, 1959.

Williamsburg Wins In Class C

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (AP)—Don Appleman led Williamsburg to an easy 63-40 victory over Commodore Perry in the western finals of PIAA Class C competition Monday night.

The 5-foot-7 Appleman collected 29 points on nine shots from the field and 11 foul throws.

The western champs will meet West Reading, eastern titlist and defending state Class C champion, at Albright College next Saturday for the state championship.

W. Reading Captures 'C' East Title

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—High-scoring Ron Krick dropped in 34 points Monday night to lead West Reading High School to its third PIAA Class C eastern Basketball title with a 72-48 victory over Muncy.

The Cowboys, defending state champions, will meet Williamsburg Saturday at Albright College for the state title. Williamsburg won the western final at Juniata College with a 63-40 victory over Commodore Perry Monday night.

Chuck Scott with 14 points, was high scorer for Muncy.

The District 3 titlholders were ahead all the way. They held a 31-17 halftime bulge.

Weiss, Yank Squabble Gets Bigger

MIAMI (AP) — The growing feud between the New York Yankees and George Weiss, long-time general manager of the club, assumed larger proportions today when owners of the team indicated the new National League team in New York would not be welcome tenants at Yankee Stadium if their own field isn't ready for the 1962 season.

Weiss became president of New York's new National League team last week with a salary estimated at $75,000 annually. He also receives a pension and deferred salary previously earned from the Yankees estimated at $35,000 for the next five years. He was retired when the club retired Casey Stengel.

Topping said that he and Webb waived territorial rights last December to allow the new National League team to play in the Polo Grounds, old home of the Giants, until they got their own ball park.

"Neither directly nor indirectly have they approached us about a lease at the Stadium," said Webb. "We're assuming they're not interested."

The city is building an $18,000 stadium in Flushing Meadows, Queens, for the new team headed by Weiss.

The Yankee owners didn't say so directly, but indicated strongly the team would not be welcome if Flushing Stadium isn't ready by April 1962 when the team begins play in the National League.

"If their new stadium isn't ready, I'd suggest they try to get the Polo Grounds first," said Webb. "I would be surprised if Weiss asked to be allowed to play in our stadium after the way he attacked the idea the past two years while he was our general manager."

Asked whether the Yankees would make an issue over Weiss accepting the New York presidency while still collecting from the Yankees, Topping said "absolutely not," and they couldn't care less.

"If there's a question of Weiss receiving payments from us while also drawing salary on his new job, that's something Commissioner Ford Frick will have to decide. We have no further interest in the matter," Topping said.

Scranton Loses PCIAA Playoff

PITTSBURGH (AP)—South Hills Catholic High School of Pittsburgh won the PCIAA, Class A, basketball title Monday night by defeating Scranton Preparatory 41-40 at the Pitt Field House. It is the first State Catholic championship for the victors.

South Hills held a 11-9 first period lead and held the floor at halftime ahead 20-18. Scranton went out in front 28-26 after three quarters but South Hills came storming back to take the game. It marked the fourth straight year a team from western Pennsylvania has won the crown. Scranton entered the contest with a record of 20 victories against no defeats. It was also the Cavaliers' first crack at the title.

Scranton and South Hills were rated even as the game got underway at the University of Pittsburgh's Field House.

It was the first shot at a state title for the Cavaliers who hold the Lynett Memorial Tournament title, the Catholic League Central Division title and the Class A championship of the Scranton Diocese.

However, this was the seventh season in the nine that John Gallagher has coached there for his team to qualify for PCIAA playoffs.

Fish Group May Set Up An Advisory

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's Fish Commission met yesterday to consider establishing a special advisory board for boating.

Commission director Albert M. Day said in advance of the session that he expected favorable action on the proposal. The plan has the backing of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

The question of how best to enforce regulations and carry out programs connected with boating has been a hot one for some time. Not even the sportsmen's groups in the state are united.

The issue has reached the legislature where a bill before the Senate proposes putting the jurisdiction under a boating board in the Department of Forests and Waters.

The sportsmen's federation, meeting here in convention over the weekend, backed a bill to keep boating law administration under the Fish Commission. A bill along those lines, with the federation's support, may be introduced in the senate this week.

The federation wants to license all boats, from canoes to yachts, in six different classes with fees ranging from $1 to $12.

The Fish Commission is expected to support legislation which would have different licensing provisions but keep administration under the commission.

The commission wants to set up five licensing classes at costs ranging from $1 to $15. It also wants to set the minimum age for operating boats for water skiing and aquaplaning at 16 — with consent of parents or guardian.

In other business, the federation supported a proposal recommending that the state reduce from 16 to 14 years its minimum age requirement for persons wishing to buy a fishing license.

The sportsmen decided this age bracket should pay the regular $3.25 license fee as a means of producing more revenue for the Fish Commission. Sales of fishing license have been declining steadily in recent years.

HARMONY AT LAST

HAMPTONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Robert Stone coached the West Yadin High School basketball team through 20 straight defeats in the 1959-60 season.

West Yadin finally snapped a 48-game losing streak early in the 1960-61 campaign, winning 42-35 over Harmony.

3 Nittany Matmen In Title Bouts

Penn State's three Eastern champions — Dan Johnston (137), Ron Pifer (147), and Johnston Oberly (heavyweight)—will compete this weekend in the National Intercollegiate wrestling championships at Oregon State College.

The three along with coach Charlie Spindel will fly to Corvallis today.

Pifer and Oberly have previous experience in NCAA competition, Johnston doesn't.

Oberly suffered a rib injury shortly before being pinned by Oklahoma State's Ted Ellis in a semi-final round in his sophomore season. He had to forego a possible third or fourth place finish when he was forced to withdraw from competition. Last year, he was upset in the opening round by Iowa's Sherwin Thorsen but came back to finish third.

Pifer wrestled at 157 pounds last year and upset top-seeded Sid Terry of Oklahoma in early action. He lost to Northwestern's Art Craft, the eventual winner, on a penalty point in the last seconds of their match and placed fourth.

Oberly is a two-time Eastern champion. He and Johnston are seniors, Pifer a junior.

NIT Resumes Court Title Play Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Invitation Basketball Tournament resumes Tuesday night with the two remaining seeded teams—Dayton and Niagara — making their first appearance.

Dayton meets Temple in Tuesday's opener (7:30 p.m. EST), followed by Niagara versus Providence. During the regular season Providence defeated Niagara 76-74 in double overtime.

The Niagara-Providence winner meets Holy Cross in Thursday night's semifinals, and it should be a ball game.

Holy Cross, at peak form now, has looked more impressive than any club in the tournament, which started as a 12-team affair last Thursday. The Crusaders beat Detroit 86-82 in the opening round and then took their ninth straight victory Saturday night when they whipped Memphis State 81-69.

Memphis State, a seeded team, came into the NIT with a 20-2 record, best among the 12 entrants.

The Dayton-Temple winner plays St. Louis in the other half of Thursday night's semifinals. St. Louis knocked out seeded Colorado State 59-53 Saturday.

Thursday night's losers meet in a consolation game Saturday. The championship game will follow.

DA Refuses To Discuss Court Fix

NEW YORK (AP)—The district attorney's office kept mum Monday on the latest basketball scandal involving two players from Seton Hall and one from Connecticut, while reports circulated the matter would go before a Manhattan grand jury later in the week.

The World-Telegram and Sun said sources close to the investigation disclosed it would be presented to the grand jury.

David Worgan, assistant district attorney, declined comment, saying "there is nothing new on the investigation other than it is continuing."

Two New York men, Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hackman, have been arrested as fixers.

The DA's office said two 21-year-old Seton Hall players, Arthur Hicks and Henry Gunter, were paid $1,000 each to shave points in a game against Dayton at Madison Square Garden Feb. 9.

The University of Connecticut player hasn't been identified. Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said he was given $1,500 to hold down his team's score in a game against Colgate March 1 at Hamilton, N.Y.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Last spring, Giant hitting coach Lefty O'Doul worked with Jim Davenport, Willie Kirkland, Ed Bressoud and Hobie Landrith. He concentrated on them, and was willing to wager each would up their batting average 10 to 20 points.

Each had lower averages for 1960.

Here are the comparative figures with 1959 averages first: Davenport .258 to .251; Kirkland .272 to .252 and recently traded to Cleveland; Bressoud .251 to .255 and Landrith .251 to .242.

The four Giants lost a collective 62 points.

HOW TO TELL A DODGE FROM A DODGE

Identifying a Dodge has become a problem. Because now there are two. Compact Dodge Lancer. Full-size Dodge Dart. There is an obvious difference. Size, inside and out. Dart, the lower picture, is the larger. But otherwise they are very much alike. Both have a unitized, rust-proofed body. A superb ride called Torsion-Aire. A battery-saving alternator. And both have optional three-speed push-button automatic transmissions. Another difference is price. Dart, the full-size Dodge, is priced model for model with Ford and Chevrolet. The compact Dodge Lancer costs about the same as Comet, Falcon and Corvair. Get to know them better. At your Dodge Dealer's, of course.

New Pro Court Circuit To Allow 3 Pts. On Shots

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American Basketball League club owner reported Monday that teams in the new pro circuit will get 3 points instead of the usual 2 for sinking long shots.

Harry Lynn, who heads the Washington franchise, said this was one of two regulations agreed upon at a league meeting in Chicago over the weekend.

League officials also were instructed to recommend other rules changes "to get defense back into the game without slowing it up," Lynn said.

For a bonus goal, he said, an arc will be painted on the floor to mark a 25-foot radius from the basket. Any successful shots outside that line will be worth 3 points.

The other revision will extend the "keyhole" within the free throw alley 3 feet to 18 feet from the backboard. The offensive

Penn State Cagers Name All Opponents

FOR THE second straight year Temple placed two players on Penn State's all-opponent basketball team.

Russ Gordon and backcourt ace Bruce Drysdale represent the Owls on an all-star quintet that also includes Bob Duffy of Colgate and All-Americans Terry Dischinger of Purdue and Art Heyman of Duke.

There were no unanimous selections although Dischinger and Heyman each missed by one vote.

Drysdale scored 20 points and Gordon scored 14 and grabbed 17 rebounds in a game won by Penn State, 63-56. Dischinger was held to three field goals and 14 points in Penn State's 63-59 upset of Purdue, but the talented Olympian impressed the Lions with his all-around play. Heyman scored 27 points in Duke's 69-46 romp over the Lions in the Charlotte Tournament. Duffy scored 43 points as Colgate and State split even in two games.

Other players receiving votes were Joe Stelner, Bucknell; Paul Miller, Jim Ritchie, Jim McCormick and Lee Patrone of West Virginia; John Fridley, Pitt; Alley Hart, Len Chapell, and Bill Packer of Wake Forest; and Carroll Youngkin, Duke.

Oriole Catcher Out For Month

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Catcher Hank Foiles, regarded as the No. 2 man behind the plate for the Baltimore Orioles, will be lost to the team for at least a month because of a double fracture of his right index finger.

Foiles was hit on the knuckles of his throwing hand Saturday as he tried to catch one of Hoyt Wilhelm's knuckleball pitches.

Sports Show Continues At Allentown

ENTHUSIASTIC weekend crowds indicate a record turnout of sportsmen and the general public for the 1961 Allentown Fair Sports, Vacation and Boat Show that continues all this week in the Allentown Fairgrounds Agricultural Hall. General Manager Edward G. Leidig reported that Saturday and Sunday attendance was excellent and the adults and youngsters alike voiced their approval of the big stage and water tank show that goes on twice each night.

Sportsmen are showing particular interest in the exhibits of guns, tackle, boats, archery and other outdoors equipment and fish and wildlife exhibits have proved to be extremely popular. Willy Necker and his champion Dalmatian stunt dogs continue to steal the stage show and local dog fanciers have expressed their amazement at the ability of Necker to train dogs to perform seemingly unbelievable feats. Jim Tiebor and Maxie the trained seal, the Canadian Guides with their log sawing and rolling and canoe tilting, Joe Bodrie's fastest gun alive and Tommy Bartlett all help to make the stage and tank presentations outstanding.

Children under 14 are admitted free when accompanied by their parents and the show is in progress each night this week from 7 to 11 p. m. Saturday the hours are 2 to 11 and the annual show closes this coming Sunday night.

Phenomenal Wilt Fails To Gain All-Star Berth

ALTHOUGH Wilt Chamberlain broke ten records this season, one of them with a phenomenal scoring total of 3,033 points, the 7-foot, 1-inch center of the Philadelphia Warriors failed surprisingly to land on the annual all-star team of the National Basketball Association as chosen by the players themselves for The Sporting News.

The controversial giant swept all honors last season when he was named both the Player of the Year and the Rookie of the Year as well as pivotman on the all-star team. Yet, although reaching even greater heights in scoring and rebounding this season, The Still was overshadowed by Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics, who was voted the Player of the Year.

There were two close contests in the balloting. Under the rules, the players were not permitted to vote for any of their own teammates. This had no effect, incidentally, on the competition between Russell and Chamberlain. In a standoff, nine Celtics voted for Chamberlain and nine Warriors picked Russell.

Baun To Miss Playoff Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Injured Bobby Baun, Toronto defenseman, will miss the opening of the Leafs' Stanley Cup hockey playoff series with Detroit at Toronto Wednesday night.

Russian Girl Sets Shot Mark

LONDON (AP) — Tamara Press, the Soviet Union's world and Olympic champion, has set a world indoor shot put record for women of 56 feet, 3 1/4 inches (17.15 meters), Tass announced Sunday night.

The Soviet news agency said she put up the new mark during a track and field meet at Leningrad. It bettered by 7.87 inches (20 centimeters) her own previous indoor record.

In the voting for Player of the Year, Russell was named on 40 ballots and easily outdistanced Pettit, who was second with 12. Baylor was third with 11, while Chamberlain and Robertson each drew nine votes.

Robertson was the choice of 74 as the Rookie of the Year and also drew more votes than any other player, 72, in winning his place on the all-star team. Pettie and Baylor each had 70.
